

DARIO FRIGERIO

Born in Monza on 24-6-62

Married, 2 children

Resident in Milan

He graduated cum laude in Political Economics in 1986 at Milan's Bocconi University, where he spent some time as an International Finance academic assistant.

After serving in the military as a Tax Police Officer, he began his professional career at Credito Italiano as a financial analyst and in 1991, directly reporting to the Group CFO, he dealt with house portfolio investments and asset liability management for the bank.

Subsequently, starting from 1996 he took an active role in defining and implementing Gruppo Unicredit's asset management strategy, being appointed head of investments first in Milan and then in Dublin, as part of the bank's internationalisation and development process.

In 2001, after the acquisition of Boston's Pioneer Investment group, he was appointed Managing Director of the new company resulting from the merger between the European and the US perimeters.

In 2004, after the restructuring of Gruppo Unicredit, he was given charge of the Private Banking branch and appointed Deputy General Manager of Gruppo UniCredito and Chief Executive Officer of Unicredit Private Banking, with headquarters in Turin.

He has been a Member of the Executive Committee of Gruppo Unicredit, reporting directly to the Chief Executive Officer.

After the acquisition of HVB in Germany, Bank Austria in Austria in 2006 and Capitalia in 2007, his capacity was extended to the Group's International Wealth Management business, operating in over 25 countries for a total amount of assets managed on behalf of the clientele of over € 500 billion including Private Banking, Asset Management, online banking and financial advisor network.

In this position he acted as President and Vice President of Italian and foreign banks and management companies (including Fineco, Xelion and Dat) and became member of the Supervisory Board of HVB in Germany and Bank Austria in Austria, both listed companies.

He was been a permanent attendee to Unicredit Group board meetings from 2004 to 2008.

He left the group in February 2010 and after a time with Boston Consulting, he took the role of senior advisor for Citigroup's asset management segment in Europe, Middle East and Africa.

In November 2011 he was appointed Chief Executive Officer of Prelios SGR, a leader in consulting and asset management in the real estate sector, handling third party assets for approximately € 6 billion, a total of 22 funds and a wide number of domestic and international retail and institutional primary investors.

He left the company in 2013 and currently he is independent director with listed and non-listed companies (Finmeccanica, Sogefi and Objectway); moreover, he is senior advisor for asset management and private banking firms.

He is a partner in Sofia Sgr, an asset management and private equity consulting firm.
