

Frédéric Sipahi

Frédéric Sipahi is the CEO of Sogefi Group.

Born in 1981, Mr. Sipahi is a French national and holds a Master's degree in finance.

He has been working in the automotive sector since 2003, first at PSA, then at Faurecia, holding positions of increasing responsibility in Finance and Controlling.

He joined Sogefi in 2012 as Chief Financial Officer of Air & Cooling Business Unit. In 2013, he was appointed CFO of the Engine System Business Unit, on a scope of 22 plants and 5 R&D centers in Europe, the Americas, India, and China, supporting the management of 800 M€ of Turnover and 4 500 workers.

In 2015 he was promoted General Manager of the Air & Cooling Business Unit, and is leading the division turnaround, achieving a significant performance improvement, both in terms of increased profitability and free cash flow generation. He also achieved positive results in 2020, despite the extraordinary context. He has also refocused the division's product strategy, by effectively positioning it towards new technologies.

Since 2019, he has expanded his responsibilities as General Manager of Air & Cooling and Filtration, also leading the Filtration Division, where he has launched major rationalization and efficiency improvement programs.
